Success Story

CHANKIT BANSAL
Software Developer

Flipkart

Chankit comes from a humble family. His father is a shopkeeper and his mother, a housewife. Chankit scored very well throughout his schooldays but came to a halt while doing engineering course.

His father earned only a meager income from the stationary shop and his mother was a housewife who continued to struggle and help Chankit's elder brother who passed away after fighting a battle due to contagious disease. Looking at this crisis at home, his parents then decided to stop supporting Chankit for further studies.

He was standing on the crossroads, after getting a very good score and admission in Thapar Institute of Engineering and Technology- one of the premier institutes of Engineering in Patiala- Punjab, he has to compromise for his Right given by the country, i.e. Right to Education. But he didn't give-up.

One day he read about Nishkam Scholarship on college's notice board. He got a ray of hope and started preparing for the entrance exam. After achieving success he got his winning cheque in hands. He further discussed with his family for his future studies and applied for bank loan for short term. He continued his studies and marked a big success after passing from Thapar.

He shared with his family and they all became very emotional and couldn't stop their tears of joy and nostalgia while thinking about tomorrow's bright future.

This support helped him in transforming his dreams into reality. He served in Amazon and Samsung- India as a Software Engineer. His skills did not go unnoticed and at present he is associated with Flipkart- India's leading e-commerce company as a Software Developer.

Chankit aspires to make his mark in the software world. He attributes his achievements to Nishkam for such a timely help while he was crafting his future during the crisis. He got a lot of exposure professionally in Bangalore since he is there for past many years and wishes to support someone needy like him.

Little help goes a long way

The right support and push at the most challenging moment can change people's lives. The story of Bhupesh Kumar validates this belief. Born in an economically backward family, struggled for two meals a day was everyday story. Bhupesh lost his mother during his childhood and his father brought him to MGSN, Kharar. Being a laborer he couldn't afford Bhupesh's expenses in any form.

Young Bhupesh, mixed with fellow children at the orphanage and he was doing academically well and science has always been his strong point, which made him think about his career in engineering diploma. He wanted to get professionally trained where Nishkam supported his ambition. He attained his engineering diploma in Automobile Engineering.

With the onset of the COVID- 19 crisis, India has seen a very large job cutoffs but Bhupesh got the opportunity as CNC Operator (Computer Numerical Control) in Rockpecker (A Rock Drilling Tools making company in SAS Nagar, Punjab) and started earning for a secure life. Today he expresses his gratitude to all those kind-hearted donors who supported him and made him a capable being for the rest of his life.
